REPORT DETAILS

1.00	THE LOCAL DEMOCRACY & BOUNDARY COMMISSION PROPSALS FOR FLINTSHIRE
1.01	The Local Democracy & Boundary Commission for Wales has published its Review of the Electoral Arrangements for the County of Flintshire which sets out its draft proposals for our local electoral wards.
1.02	The initial consultation process took place between November 2018 and January 2019. The Commission had indicated at that time that Flintshire should have a Councillor/electorate ratio of 1:1,895. We currently have electorates of between 1,041 and 4,582.
1.03	During the consultation period we held extensive discussions with Members, including two workshops, a series of drop-in sessions and individual and group discussions, before drafting a response. The County Council approved a response at our meeting on 29 th January.
1.04	Members worked together to make proposals to the Commission for changes which would improve local representation. It was noted that Members representing rural areas had raised concerns that the size and topography of a ward is not taken into account by the Commission in balancing the ratio requirement with the logistics of local representation.
1.05	The Commission received representations from the County Council, 10 town and community councils, 14 county councillors, 6 town and community councillors, the Alyn and Deeside Conservative Association, Bagillt Labour Party and 6 members of the public. The Commission considered the representations before it formulated its own proposals. A summary of these representations can be found at Appendix 5 of the Draft Proposals report (attached).
1.06	The Commission has proposed a change to the arrangement of our electoral wards to achieve what it believes will be “a significant improvement” in the level of electoral parity across the County of Flintshire. <ul style="list-style-type: none">• The Commission has proposed a Council of 65 members - a reduction from the current size of 70. This would result in a proposed county average ratio of 1,836 electors per member.• The Commission has proposed 39 electoral wards - a reduction from the 57 existing wards.• The proposed new wards show less variation from the target ratio of members to electors from the current.

1.13 The Council needs to advise on the process it would like to follow for considering the proposals and approving a response to the consultation.

1.14 At Stage Three the Commission will prepare a Final Proposals Report which will be submitted to Welsh Government in 2020 along with those for all other councils in Wales. Welsh Government will consider these proposals at Stage Four of the process. After six weeks, the Welsh Government may make an Order and there will be a further opportunity to write to Welsh Government with comments. The final Stage of the Review will be the electoral arrangements coming into force for the next local government elections in 2022.
